Mr. JOHN MURPHY, Harlem. Mr. JOHN MURPHY, Harlem.

Having ascertained that Mr. Charles Whitson had received from Professor Read, to whom he had submitted for chemical analysis and examination, the oats, stomach, and liver of one of his horses, which were supposed to have died from poison, a report of the results of Dr. Reid's investigation, I ap, lied to Mr. Whitson to know the nature of the report. He however not only denied me any information on the subject but treated me with much abuse.

I subsequently applied to Professor Reid himself, and on pay ment by me to him of $20, being his charges against Mr. Whit son, I received from him the foregoing certificates which I am impelled to lay before an honest public on account of the many also ders circulated against me, and with the intention, I think, of injuring an trooffending citizen.

WASHINGTON, June 19, 1846.

Death of General Jackson—Citizens' Meeting—Speeches by Col. Seaton, Gen. Van Ness, Hon. W.

J. Brown, Gen. John H. Eaton, and James Hoban,

Pursuant to public notice, at 6 o'clock this evening, a large company having assembled in the Aldermen's room in the City Hall, and apparently waiting for some one to move in the business.

The Mayor (Mr. Sar-roo) rose and and that having, at the instance of several fellow-citized, invited this meaning, he begged leave to say a word or two preliminary to its organization. The meeting was called to do honor to the memory of a decrease decitized, who whatever might he the diversity of opinion as to the merits of his country in the hour of her peril. He saw before him an assembly of citizens, amongst whom, it was well known, a great difference of opinion existed in regard to the pubtractic motives, even for those acts which the ymort strangy disseasted from. For myself, (said the Mayor) in appearing at this meeting, I mean not to compromise in the least my well known opinions; but I for ona, however drew a sword, and whose valor shed renown upon his own name and lustre upon that of his country. Not only services of Jackson to his country, in the tented field "amil the thunder of the cannon," and in the administration of the republic.

The resolutions were then unanimously adopted, one of which authorises the appointment of a committee of twenty-one, to prepare and report upon a programme for a procession, &c.

And the meeting adjourned.

Washington, June 19, 1845. Mexican Indemnities-New Postage Law-Fips and Levies, &c. One of the claimants, as we should infer, of the Mexican indemnities, in the columns of the United States Journal, is bringing Mr. Green to a most rigid cross-examination regarding his agency in the payment or non-payment of the contested instalments of 1844. As it has been our object rather to clicit a full disclosure of the mysteries of these instalments, than to undertake the task, unacquainted as we are, with the parties, and their conduct in the matter, we rethe parties, and their conduct in the matter, we rejoice at the prospect of a full revelation of the whole business in due season. We shall wait the arrival of Mr. Shannon; perhaps it may turn out that the United States agents were robbed of the money or the drafts on their way to Vera Cruz, by the emissaries of the Mexican government.

The Post Master General is rapidly getting every thing in train for the new postage law, which goes into operation on the 1st of July. An immeuse quantity of five and ten cent pieces are being struck off at the mints to throw into immediate circulation; and we understand that fips and bits, or levies, as they are called here, are to be considered at the post offices as dimes and half dimes, in order to throw them out of circulation as far as posssible.

WASHINGTON, June 20, 1845 Movements of the Household-The Public Gardene in Danger-Mr. Secretary Bancroft Orator of the day-Gen. Eaton's Fling at Father Ritchie-Ca-leb J. McNulty-Louis McLane, &c. &c.

The President and family, it is understood, in-tend rusticating a week or two in the country, pen-ding the renovation of the White House, and that with this view they will quit their present comfortale quarters at Coleman's, early next week. Col Polk has a number of relatives in Maryland, and ome say that they are to be visited-others say that the Executive family goes down to Piney Point, Old Point, and several other points on Chesapeake Bay, for the interim, including a visit to John Ty-ler, and Mrs. Tylez at Williamsburg, (who it is said Bay, for the interim, including a visit to John Tyler, and Mrs. Tyler at Williamsburg, (who it is said, confidently, is in a very agreeable and gratifying state of health at present—particularly gratifying to Old John.) But, it is most likely that the household of the Administration will retire for a fortnight or so, to Linnean Hill, the country residence of J. Pearce, Esq., a distinguished gardener, botanist, and Democrat—whose place is situate north of the city some three miles, near Rock Creek; the scenery about which was so much extolled by TyronePower in his late tour through the Union, and by other travellers.

Connected with this reported visit, is the collateral rumor that Mr. Pearce is to supercede Jemmy Maher, as the Public Gardener. This movement may be made now with impunity, since Old Hickory is dead; but while helived the expulsion of Jemmy Maher would have gone hard with the Administration. There are, we know, a number of sniveling ragamutins of Locofocos, as well as the fashionable Whigs, shat would go any lengths for the expulsion of Maher; but his works are a strong recommendation to overcome. Notwithstanding, as Jemmy has been in his petty office for a term exceeding eight years, it is likely he will have to walk the plank of rotation.

We further understand that Secretary Bancroft is to deliver the oration before the Democratic Associations of this District on the occasion of their proposed honors to the memory of Gen. Jackson.

In our letter of last evening, we cited the re-
